SAILAWAY VI

LAGOON 560 CATAMARAN

This vessel is a high end luxury, high performance sailing catamaran. With plenty of room on board, guests can relax on the upstairs flybridge and chat with the Skipper, or laze on the foredecks and enjoy the splash of the waves and wind. Inside, the cabin is air conditioned with a large under cover outdoor saloon area.

Operated primarily by wind power, this is the most sustainable and environmentally friendly way to travel to the Great Barrier Reef.

The Reef

The reef around Low Isles comprises of 150 species of hard corals and is dominated by 15 species of soft corals. Living amongst the corals in the blue lagoon are a large variety of reef fish including angle fish, damsel fish, anemones, giant trevally, sweetlip, fusiliers and many green turtles are sighted daily.

This beautiful island is steeped in history. The lighthouse was built in 1878 and was staffed by lighthouse keepers until it became automated in 1993. Weather data has been collected on the island since 1887 and scientific associations date back to 1928 when it was the base for a yearlong scientific survey which studied the structure and ecology of the surrounding reef.

Später geniessen Sie das Zurücksegeln nach Port Douglas an Bord des Lagoon 500, einem luxuriösen Segel-Katamaran (der Spitzenklasse) französischer Herkunft

Zur Insel gehört ein Leuchtturm aus dem Jahr 1878 und eine Lagune, wo Sie ungehindert Schnorcheln können. Sie haben auch die Möglichkeit an einer geführten Schnorcheltour teilzunehmen. Ebenso können Sie die Korallen von einem Glasbodenboot aus betrachten.
